VISIT OLD FRIENDS

From Hope They Go to Nashville, Former Home of Whiteside

Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas and a party of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Whiteside, spent a brief visit in Hope Thursday morning renewing old acquaintances. While here they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Goshorn, R. L. Gosnell, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer. Mr. Whiteside is secretary to Senator Caraway and is a Washington political writer. He once lived at Nashville, Ark., where a close friendship with the Goshorns and Mr. Gosnell first started. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer are close friends to Senator Caraway. It was Mr. Spencer who introduced Mrs. Caraway at a political rally here several years ago when the late Senator Huey Long invaded Arkansas to aid Mrs. Caraway in her campaign for election. Also included in the senator's party were Miss Dorothy Strickland, of Nashville, and Chester Watkins of Washington, D. C. The party left shortly before noon for Nashville.

WPA Requires Outright Ownership Before Making Improvements

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Department of Commerce has approved a 17-million-dollar airport project of the Works Progress Administration (WPA), involving the building or improvement of 250 airports. At the WPA Thursday it was explained that Department of Commerce approval was merely preliminary. In each instance government money will go only for improvements and not for land purchases. The projects approved, and the amount of federal funds, include the following: Hope, $16,001; Camden, $24,757; Russellville, $6,869; Searcy, $12,491; For state-wide work, $17,890.

Accountants Point Out Federal Tax Will Otherwise Be Effective

LITTLE ROCK.—Benefits that Arkansas can gain by passage of a state unemployment compensation law to work with the national social security legislation were described Wednesday by J. Cooksey Fuller of Little Rock in an address at the annual meeting of the Arkansas Society of Certified Public Accountants. Arkansas's pay roll tax total would be no greater if the state had such a law than it will be under the federal law alone, he said. In cases where a state law is in operation taxes paid under it are deductible from the federal tax levy. "Say Arkansas had a state pay roll tax amounting to 90 per cent of the federal tax," he said, "and a hypothetical employer was due to pay $1,000 under the federal enactment. Then $900 would go to the state and would be retained for use as unemployment compensation in Arkansas, while $100 went to the federal government. If there was no state law the entire $1,000 would be payable to the federal collectors. "All unemployment compensation is paid under state laws and until a state enacts an unemployment compensation law there can be no material benefits within the state," he said.

Children Steal to Obtain Money to Play Them, in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(AP)—The women of New Orleans have opened "war" on the slot-machine racket which has an estimated take of $25,000 a week. Infuriated by what they term "apathy" on the part of authorities toward the hundreds of machines operating illegally in every part of the city, the women have organized a committee to lead the drive against what they describe as "one-arm bandits."

The committee composed of Mrs. W. G. Fisher, chairman; Mrs. Jennie G. Skinner and Mrs. Joseph E. Friend, all club women, met Wednesday to plan its drive. "We are going to Superintendent of Police George Rorer first," Mrs. Fisher said, "and if we don't get action there we're going straight to the Police Board."

The president said: "The American government is keeping informed as to all shipments consigned for export to both belligerents."

Trio of Unmasked Robbers Hold Up Station for $53

Robbery Reported on West City Line at 3:30 a. m. Thursday

"COVERED" BY GUNS

Two Ransack Filling Station While Third Waits in Automobile

Three unmasked men held up and robbed Luck's Tourist Court on Highway 67 west of Hope at 3:30 a. m. Thursday, and escaped in the direction of this city with $43 in cash and about $10 in cigarettes and cigars. Nearby towns were quickly notified but no trace of the bandits had been found at noon Thursday. The robbery occurred a few minutes after the station after completing their night beats. The three bandits drove into the station from the direction of Texarkana. One man stepped out and ordered Odell Luck, employee, to "fill 'er up and check the oil."

In the meantime, the other two men stepped from the car and strolled by the side. When Luck finished servicing the car he was told that one of the men on the inside would pay the bill. "Covered" by bandits.

Luck went in to collect but was greeted with two pistols. He was commanded to "hold up your hands, we mean business." One of the bandits then went to the rear of the station and roused a negro cook, who was ordered to come out and join Luck. Both were told to lie on the floor as one of the bandits went to the cash register. The register would not open for the bandit. Luck was made to rise and open the register. The bandit took all the cash and several cigarettes and cigars and boxes of soap. The cook and the negro were told to stay on the floor five minutes. The two bandits joined the third man in the car who had kept the motor running and whiskey away toward Hope.

Mrs. White remained in a serious condition. She is suffering from a fractured skull and occasional hemorrhages of the brain.

Police continued to search Thursday for the negro driver whose identity is known. Officers said that his arrest is expected this week. The automobile abandoned by the negro at the scene of the accident, North Laurel street, is held by the police. After striking Mr. and Mrs. White as they walked across a street, the negro jumped from his car and fled into the darkness.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Everybody knows that pupils are occasionally annoying to their teachers.
 But few people have given thought to the ways in which teachers may annoy their pupils.

It occurred to a professor at North Carolina State College to study the annoying habits of college professors,
 and he has recently made available
 the results.

One hundred twenty-three students were asked to observe their teachers particularly for mannerisms and habits that were annoying. They were asked to note such things as frowning, yawning, coughing, and the like.

They were asked to watch the teachers' faces, and to note the expressions of their faces, and to note the expressions of their faces, and to note
 the expressions of their faces.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce. © 1935 NEA, Sepice, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 JEAN DUNN, secretary to DON-ALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays
 her answer when BOBBY WAL-LACE, automobile salesman, asks her to marry him.

"At the Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY MAR-KINS whose business connection is vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MIL and MRS. LEWIS and Bobby arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis. He tells her to Donald Montague. Lewis buys
 a car."

LARRY GLINN, federal agent,
 is trying to locate WINGLY LEW-IS, bank robber. He ferrets about the bank transactions and questions Bobby. The bonds were bought by Lewis. He believes the Lewis bought was armored. Bobby undertakes to find out.

Jean goes to her home town for a vacation. Sandy comes to see her and she agrees to marry him.
 Bobby believes he has a lead on the location of the factory where armored cars are made and goes alone to investigate.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 CHAPTER XXVI

THE little valley opened about 100 yards from Pulaski road.
 The driveway led downward, swinging sharply to the left and then to the right again in a bar-ren region that seemed almost desert-like. Once out of sight of the main highway, Bobby could see nothing but the bleak, grimy hillsides.

The driveway kept on going down hill, and at last it made one more turn and came out in a queer little hollow. At the other side, a few rods away, there was a precipitous bank, crowned by a long row of gone-to-seed dwellings; on the left hand and on the left a similar bank hemmed
 the place in. And in the center of the hollow there was a lone, ancient building of red brick with a time-stained roof of galvanized iron.

"A brick yard!" said Bobby suddenly. That, obviously, was what the place had been—once.
 It was perfectly clear that no bricks had been made here for many a year. But it was equally clear that the central building was still in use. A freshly-painted black chimney rose from the farther end, with a wisp of smoke threading its way up toward the evening sky; and surrounding the whole thing there was a new,
 business-like fence of woven wire,
 seven feet high, with barbed-wire strands on the top and a substantial gate at the point where the driveway entered. Inside this gate three or four cars were parked.

AS Bobby drove up, a man got up from a seat beside the gate. He let himself out and stroiled up to Bobby's car with insolent slowness, his thumbs hooked in his vest, his head un-bent, and beneath his left arm tucked away in a shoulder holster, was plainly visible.

"What do you want?" he asked.
 Bobby did his best to look confused and lost.

"Why," he said, "I was looking for a short-cut over to—Grand River boulevard. I thought this was it."

"Well, it isn't," said the man.
 "Oh," said Bobby. He looked at the building with what he hoped was just the right degree of innocent interest. "What is this?"

"Never mind what it is," said
 the man. "This is a private road,
 and you're trespassing. Scram!"
 He casually moved his vest back, to give Bobby a better look at the revolver. Bobby grinned suddenly.

 "Okay, partner," he said. He backed up and swung around, while the guard stood watching him with sullen suspicion. Then, casting a last glance at the erstwhile brick plant, Bobby drove up the roadway
 to Pulaski road again.

On his way back to town Bobby was the prey of a pleasurable excitement, not unmixed with an even more pleasurable feeling of self-congratulation. He had found something queer, that was certain;
 something amazingly queer, tucked away in this inaccessible hollow, surrounded by an unbreakable fence and guarded by a surly watchman with a revolver. Was this the place Mark Hopkins and MacFarlane had visited the afternoon before?

The reddish dust on Hopkins' car testified that they had gone along Pulaski road back of the steel mill; and if they had done that,
 this queer place back in the hollow
 seemed to be the only conceivable goal.

"I've got something!" Bobby told himself jubilantly. "I'll bet a dollar to an old doughnut that the place Larry Glenn's looking for.
 Had I better tell Larry about it?
 Right off—or should I try to find out something more before I do?
 Gosh, I wish I could get just a little more dope before I tell him.
 Maybe I can. Waiting another week won't hurt anything.
 Anyhow, I'll go see him tonight."

He returned the car to the rental agency, walked to a drug store, entered a telephone booth, and rang Larry's office in the federal building. Larry was still in. He greeted Bob warmly and invited him to have dinner with him.

THEY ate at a pleasant little restaurant near the federal building, and there Bobby gleefully told Larry just enough about Mark Hopkins' mysterious trip to what the federal man's interest. He did not omit his having found the peculiar building in the hollow off Pulaski road, but he told him enough to convince him that he was on the trail of something.

"That's fine," said Larry. "As soon as you get anything definite, let me know so I can get some of our men working on it. You see, Bobby—all I want from you is just a hint; no more than that. We can run it down. If our suspicions are correct, running the thing down
 may be rather dangerous, and I don't want you to run any risk of getting hurt. Will you promise me to call me as soon as you have anything we can work on?"

He looked at Bobby with his keen gray eyes and Bobby solemnly promised. He felt a trifle guilty about concealing his knowledge,
 but he was determined to vindicate himself for his lamentable flyer in stolen bonds; and, besides, he rather enjoyed the thrill of amateur detective work.

Their food was served and they began to eat. Larry carved off a bite of steak and ate it thoughtfully; then he laid down his fork and knife and leaned forward confidentially.

"I'm going to tell you something that you're not really entitled to know about," he said. "I wouldn't do it, except that it concerns Jean."
 Bobby looked up, startled.

"We raided the apartment your friends the Lewises were occupying," said Larry. "They'd got out

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

by ALICIA HART

Ringlet curls, not only at the ends
 but in various parts across the top and sides of the head, distinguish the new evening hair styles. The smartest collures at formal dances and parties employ ringlets that would be the envy of the most gorgeous Colonial ladies.

For girls who wear their hair extremely short at the back and not too long at the sides, there are arrangements that make use of wide front waves, brushed backward from the brow, and diminutive, doughnut-shaped curls that give a high-in-the-back effect. If you have a permanent, the curls stay in place nicely for several days and, after that, can be brushed out and still look attractive.

If you wash and arrange your own hair, forget about the wide waves.
 Shop around for inexpensive gadgets
 with which to make curls and to hold them in place while they dry and depend on ringlets alone to give your coiffure charm.

There is, for instance, a new type of metal curler which, although designed primarily as a time-saver for an operator, can be used satisfactorily at home. It comes in two sizes—one for small ringlets, the other for larger ones. You simply dampen your hair with water or tonic, part it in small sections and, inserting the ends of one section between the metal band and composition bar, roll upward close to the head.

When the curl is made, a bobby pin is inserted in a special groove and the curler is removed. Repeat until you have all the curls you want. This type of ringlet doesn't have to be combed out and fussed with when you are ready to dress your hair for a dance.

Also for short hair are styles that are straight and swirled across the back and curled, coronet-fashion, up sides and over top. These can be fixed at home, too.

Long locks, of course, are very easy to arrange with ringlets. All of the hair can be curled, brushed upward and pinned in place, part may be done up in ringlets while other sections are left plain or, if you like, you may have a triangular space of curls at the front and a smooth, sleek effect at sides and back. This is new indeed, was shown at the Hairdressers' National Convention.

When day is hushed and hidden
And golden woods are mute,
The clearest of evening
Touches the silver lute.
As if the light were lyric
That from the first star gleams,
For through the dewy pinewood
The glimmering choral streams:
As if through the dewy pinewood
Of sundown's gorgeous fane,
Resplendent dying beauty sang
Anthems of love and pain:
As if the rosebay's beauty
In music overblimmed,
Till all the fading forest hears
Her radiant vespers hymned;
As if a heart long harried
And scourged by many a rod,
Had triumphed and were singing
Safe in the arms of God.

Hypocrite Is No Measure of Man

"Styles and Fashions for 1936" Furnishes Moral for Evangelist

The Rev. Bert Webb's discussion of "Styles and Fashions for 1936" Wednesday night was not exactly a style review, although modern dress was discussed. But the main thought was the figleaf-like garments, spiritually speaking, that some people are trying to wear even in this enlightened age.

The scriptural basis for the message was the 3rd chapter of Genesis, where figleaf garments were first worn. Some of the high lights of his message follow:

"Just as Adam and Eve tried to hide from God in the garden after they had sinned, people try to hide from Him today. God did not call Adam because he did not know where he was, but that Adam might know where he himself was. I believe you face God tonight with your wrong-doings. Let's take the responsibility before God and acknowledge that we have sinned. Don't try to hide behind or blame someone else. God has provided for us a robe of Righteousness without which we can not stand before Him. Our own righteousness is as filthy rags in His sight."

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

He never eats onions, yet he ordered a dish "souffle." Can you imagine his chagrin? For any time you see "souffle" you may know there'll be onion flavor. Just as "Florentine" means spinach. An omelet Florentine is an ordinary French omelet on a bed of spinach.

It's important to know some of the more commonly-used fancy names of dishes. They come about in various ways. Sometimes a noted chef wants to honor a locality, a hotel, a club or a famous person and names a dish accordingly.

Many names attached to dishes are French and indicate method of preparation or seasoning.

Thus a roast au jus is served in its own unthickened juices.

A bouffé noir means with black butter.

Bernaise sauce is a rich sauce thickened with egg yolks and characterized by the flavor of shallot and tarragon.

Blanquette is white meat in a cream sauce that has been thickened with eggs.

Here are other terms and their meanings:

Boeuf a la jardiniere—braised beef with vegetables.
Champignons—mushrooms.
Chateaubriand—center cut of fillet of beef.
Creole—with tomatoes.
En coquille—served in shells.
Escalope—larded fried veal.
Fromage—cheese.
Huitres frites—fried oysters.
Homard farci—stuffed lobster.
Macedoine—a mixture of several kinds of vegetables or fruit.
Maigre—a vegetable soup without stock. Meatless. Fast day dishes.
Marrons—chestnuts.
Maitre d'—a fish stew.
Poisson—fish.
Potage—thick soup.
Pot au feu—stew.
Foulet—chicken.
Fritanier—with spring vegetables.
Ragout—a highly seasoned dish made of meat cut in small pieces.
Salade de laitue—lettuce salad.
Salignon—highly seasoned minced meat mixed with a thick sauce. Sometimes means a mixture of fruits in flavored syrup.
Supreme—white cream sauce made from chicken stock.
Veloute—a rich velvety sauce.
Vinaigrette—vinegar dressing.

Kin of Willys War for Estate

Risking the loss of a $1,400,000 legacy by fighting for the full $4,000,000 estate left by the late John N. Willys, auto magnate, Mrs. Virginia Clayton Willys de Landa, top photo, has launched a court fight in New York against her stepmother, Mrs. Florence Dolan Willys, below, for control of the estate.

Mrs. De Landa was left 35 percent of the estate, the will stipulating that any contest would annul the legacy.

WITH THE LADIES

By Helen Welshimer

"The place in front of the garage." That's home, according to Dr. Morris Fishbein. We ruefully admit that the famous medical man knows his domestic geography.

There is no more likelihood of anybody reading by the fireplace in the house than that the automobile is recuperating from the day's speed in the garage. Maids have nights out but cars seldom have nights in. Only in truth, when they are laid up for sudden repairs. Such nights are hard on the family, too. They have to summon a taxicab or take a street car or bus to the movies or concert.

Once upon a time every small boy adhered to the democratic belief that some day he might live in a big white house with columns on Pennsylvania avenue. Failing that, he at least expected a two-story brick structure or a succo bungalow. Now, as long as he has a good motor in his car, any old roof is all right to what to come back.

Forever on the Go
We are an age in transit. We can't stay home. We drive 40 miles for dinner when the restaurant around the corner has a better bill of fare, and our own refrigerators, for that matter, hold delectable contributions. We drive to the next town to see a movie when the same heroine swoons in the same hero's arms on the screen in our local cinema.

Home, which is the other building on the lot that houses the garage, is a repair station in an astonishingly large number of families.

It is the woeful lack of self-contentment and self-sufficiency within us, as a generation, that was led to this situation. Naturally, the simplification of labor through machinery permitted more time for diversity of interests, many of which led beyond the home. This is excellent. The coming of commercialized amusements centered play activities, to a great extent, in an extra-mural atmosphere. No one misunderstands this.

Our fault comes in the fact that we have not taken these advantages in our stride. Instead of using them as agents which would develop us into richer, finer, more understanding human beings, we have attempted to dip into everything, getting the full savour of nothing.

Need for Quietude
We have had little time for the things of the heart, the mind, the spirit. We have atrophied our abilities to create pleasure for ourselves and those near us. Having failed to till the soil and plant the seeds, we cannot be surprised when few sheaves are garnered in the harvest. Rather than thinking on these things, we get out the car and go somewhere else.

There is a great need today of peace and quietude. Families need to get acquainted with those who comprise this most important unit. People need to become acquainted with their own selves. Only in a home, a place of spiritual and emotional and physical privacy, can one do this.

As long as a home is the place in front of the garage we will go on measuring progress by mileage and groping blindly down swift roads for the illusive thing called contentment. If padlocks could be placed on all garages for a week, a good many people might discover that there is happiness at home as well as in transit.

Carnival to Open Here on Monday

Gold Medal Shows, Sponsored by Legion, Will Play Near Luck's

The Gold Medal Shows, a carnival sponsored by the American Legion, will open at Hempstead county, will open a week's stand here next Monday.

The show will be located on Highway 67, near Luck's Tourist Court, west of the city. The carnival will have many side shows, various thrill rides and concessions.

According to C. S. Noel and C. Roach, general agents, the carnival has 196 persons and is one of the largest carnivals traveling in Arkansas. Thirty-six trucks will bring the show here.

Mr. Noel was making arrangements Thursday, with local merchants to furnish supplies to the show. The various business houses that show patronizes will have free-ride coupons to give away, Mr. Noel said.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD.—Eleanor Whitney is only 18 years old, exactly 5 feet tall and tips the scales at 98 pounds. But how she can dance!

In fact, this brown-haired youngster, who used to be billed as "Cleveland's own" wherever she appeared in the Ohio city, is being hailed as Hollywood's newest dancing sensation.

So far Eleanor has appeared in only one picture, "Millions in the Air." But that picture netted her a long-term contract and definitely established her as a serious contender for the tap dancing crown now worn by Eleanor Powell.

And strangely enough, these two Elements have enjoyed closely parallel careers. Both are proteges of Bill Robinson, the master of all tap dancers. Both had considerable vaudeville and night club experience. And both slipped quietly into Hollywood to make unpretentious screen starts—only Miss Powell arrived about eight months ahead of Miss Whitney.

The former made her bow in "George White's Scandals of 1935," doing a single dance number, but for some reason Fox executives let her slip away from them. So M-G-M signed her and boosted her to stardom in "Broadway Melody of 1936."

Signed Quick
Miss Whitney had only a little more than a dance number to do in her first picture. But Paramount execs took no chance of losing their "find," so they signed her to a long term immediately.

I first met Eleanor in one of the studio rehearsal halls. Clad in light brown spotted pajamas, she was beating out taps that sounded like the rattle of a machine gun.

"Hello," she exclaimed. "I'm getting a new car. It won't be delivered until Saturday, but I've made the down payment on it. Gee, I'm excited. It's the first car I've ever owned. And I'm buying it all by myself."

"Will you wait while I try out two more steps?" Then I'll be through for the afternoon."

Put Personality Into It
Her pianist struck up another tune and she was off again. Rat tat tat tat tat tat—faster, much faster than you can read the words. She does more than just dance, too. She tells her hoofing.

Possessing personality-plus, anyway, she throws every ounce of it into her work. While her number 2½ shows beat out a perfect rhythm, your attention is constantly attracted to her big brown eyes and the various expressions that cross her face as she executes the difficult steps.

In Hollywood, Eleanor lives with her mother and her 14-year-old sister, Ruth, in a very modest apartment. She started dancing when she was only 6 years old. For several years she did only ballet and toe dancing.

Then the Charleston came in. She entered a contest held in a Cleveland theater and won it hands down. That started her on a career of tap dancing that carried her to New York and eventually to Hollywood, and the movies.

Wants to Be An Actress
"I want to do one great big musical production in which I can dance and sing several numbers," she confided. "I know a lot of routines I didn't use in my first picture because I wanted to be able to top it with my second."

"So in my next film I want to do everything I know. Then I want to do at least two straight dramatic roles before I dance again. I'm studying acting right now, so I'll be able to play a role if I get it."

Almost unconsciously she went into a series of impersonations. Of Mae West, Joan Crawford, Carole Lombard and Norma Shearer, just to prove that she knows something about acting. Whether she does or not isn't for me to say. But I can and do say she's a good mimic.

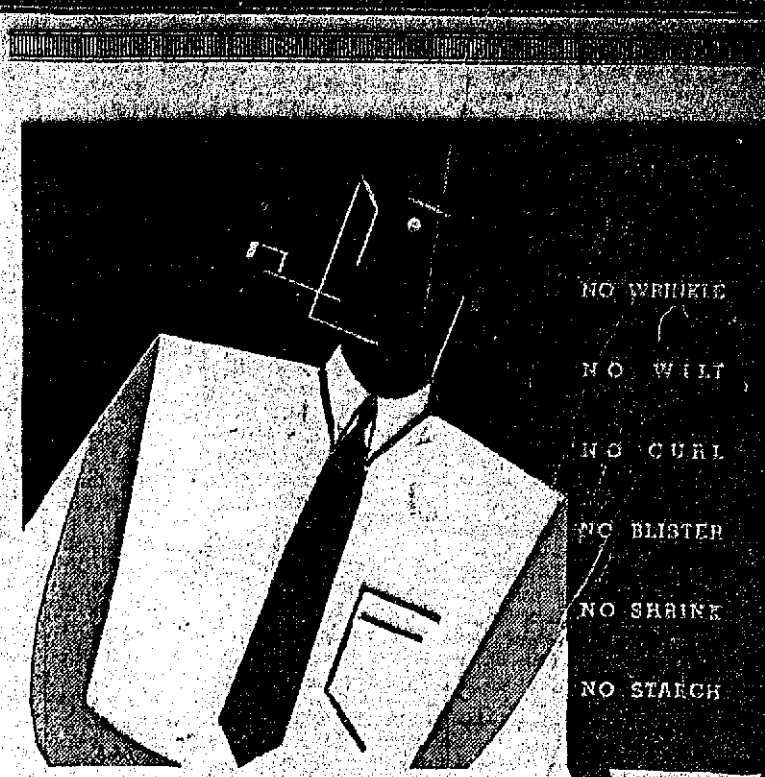

Right now Eleanor is the petted "baby" of the Paramount lot. Every one feels that she should be sheltered from the hardness and cruelty that crops up in Hollywood, as it can in no other place.

Why, even her hairdresser, used to apologize to her. During the filming of "Millions in the Air," Carole Lombard's hairdresser was assigned to her. And every once in a while the hairdresser would forget she wasn't talking to Carole, whose vocabulary is replete if nothing else. Then she'd stop right in the middle of a sentence and say, "I'm sorry, Eleanor. I shouldn't talk like that in front of you."

When a girl can win Hollywood that completely, she's a cinch to take the fans into camp.

Earthquakes Due to 'Growing Pains'

Big Belt Range of Rockies Is Rising, Causing Montana Quakes

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK. (AP)—Helena's pronounced earthquakes are almost certainly the growing pains of the Big Belt mountains, a range of the Rockies about 10 miles east of the city.

The last time they moved a little in their many million year rise was in 1925. Then there was a quake, south of Helena, about twice as bad as this.

The 1925 quake did not kill anyone, because its worst shocks hit open country. It cracked vast masses of rocks off the mountains and blocked the Northern Pacific railroad for a long time.

distance, but Ethiopian warriors tried to push back another Italian force southeast of Setit river.

Bands of native troops under Gen. Rogers Santini advanced along a small caravan route from Adigrat toward the Italians' next goal, Makale, 50 miles south. Officers of the Italian high command hoped to enter Makale without the major battle that had been predicted.

Pierce daily engagements have been going on in the Setit river valley, where the Ethiopians were estimated to have 13,000 men, of whom 3,000 were said to be in the front trying to dislodge Mussolini's soldiers from along the river.

The Ethiopians lost many men in attempts to drive back the Italians, whose casualties were smaller. The Fascist troops poured machine gun fire on the black warriors as they tried to gain possession of the river in that sector, to get water for their cattle. Even night raids by the Ethiopians have been frustrated by the Italians' fire from machine gun nests.

Italian airplanes shot down many Ethiopians, and also dropped bombs to disperse concentrations of the African warriors. Some Ethiopian ammunition dumps were reported destroyed.

Nevertheless, Ethiopian forces in the Setit river region were considered a threat to the Italian right column. When it presses on from Adduwa and Aksum, it might be forced to resist a flank attack from Haile Selassie's fighters.

Advance of the natives from the left and central columns toward Makale was said to be largely a reconnaissance. Italians continued their program of peaceful penetration, contending that they are making a crusade of "liberation" of the Ethiopians, and not a war.

Shadow-Boxing?

PARIS, France. (AP)—The newspaper La Liberte Wednesday night printed a dispatch from its London correspondent reporting a "secret agreement" between Premier Mussolini of Italy and Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

The dispatch said the alleged "accord" specifies all details of the Italian military operations and calls for a pretense of resistance on the part of Haile Selassie "to satisfy the demands of national honor in both countries."

The dispatch adds that military operations will end the day Italy considers she has gained enough to ask the League of Nations to recognize her position.

In exchange, the correspondent said, Emperor Haile Selassie would receive important financial and "moral" concessions.

Italy Arms Her Ships

ROME Italy. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, in two emergency decrees Wednesday, drafted Italy's women to fight League sanctions and ordered a census of the mercantile marine to determine strength of the Naval Reserve.

Italy's merchant ships will be armed, if necessary, said the decree. Belief was expressed that Mussolini intended to prepare his warships for possible war in Europe.

The decree divides command of the merchant marine between government departments. The navy will be in command of armed auxiliaries and the communications department may command "traffic ships."

It was said that Italy's "reprisal" campaign against sanctionist countries would not extend to the United States. America's neutrality policy is not construed as an effort to inflict hardships on Italy.

Corn-Hog Control Favored by State

Federal Agricultural Program Sweeps Arkansas by Seven to One

LITTLE ROCK.—Final returns from 57 counties in the corn-hog referendum taken Saturday to determine sentiment among corn and hog producers relative to continuance of the corn-hog adjustment program were sent to Washington Wednesday night by the state Agricultural Extension Service.

The total number voting in favor of the corn-hog adjustment program was 7,638. Producers voting against the program numbered 1,120.

Of the 1935 corn-hog contract signers 5,905 voted for continuance of the adjustment program and 406 against it. Non-signers voted 1,722 to 714 in favor of the program. About 12,000 producers were eligible to vote in the referendum.

Coughlin promises that henceforth Angelenos are going to act as though they have a city out there, not a hamlet. He says that Los Angeles is going to be like Chicago and New York and San Francisco, where every club has a right to its supporters and the game comes first.

Coughlin points out that football has been one of the west coast movie, oil, citrus and walnut belt's leading industries, and that two neglected squads—those of U. C. L. But I fear that Coughlin is wrong when he insists that Los Angeles has discarded the idea that U. S. C. has to win or that its followers will know the reason why and take drastic steps. And that it is going to give U. C. L. A. the same consideration during its reign, and treat Loyola likewise.

U. S. C. only has to stage a comeback or U. C. L. A. or Loyola launch and sustain a high-scoring streak, such as that enjoyed by the Trojans from 1928 to 1933, to bring about a fresh beating of the Los Angeles tom-toms.

90 Millions Tax Overdue in State

Survey Shows Arkansas High in Delinquency—All States Troubled

Copyright Associated Press

CHICAGO.—Mounting tax delinquencies totaled $1,000,000,000 in 21 states, a survey showed Wednesday. Desperate measures have been used by tax officials to collect assessments.

Arizona's unpaid tax total in 1933 was $1,814,687 and on June 30, 1934, the last date on which figures were compiled, $14,299,000.

Michigan, with $250,000,000 in unpaid taxes due, recently appropriated $75,000 for a newspaper advertising campaign. A similar experiment was planned by the Utah State Tax Commission on a $5,000 appropriation to collect $10,000,000. Utah has suspended all tax sales of property until January 1 under a moratorium.

Theaters Cited on Lottery Charges

Malco's Newport House Faces Charges on "Bank Night" Program

NEWPORT, Ark.—Howard H. Hastings, deputy prosecuting attorney, said here Wednesday that trial of charges against the Malco Theaters, Inc., that the company's Newport theater violated the states lottery statutes in connection with operation of "bank night" will begin here November 12 before three justices of the peace.

Hastings filed 38 charges against the company, contending that operation of the "bank night" plan each Wednesday night for 26 weeks constituted a separate violation of the law. He said he had been advised that the theater company plans to appeal, first to circuit court and then to the state supreme court if the company is fined in connection with the charges at Newport.

"Bank night" was stopped at Malco's Saenger theater in Hope after official warning months ago.

dates being October 24 and 31.

The list comprised 1,255 tracts—only about 40 per cent of the number several years ago—and perhaps a fifth of these owners paid taxes and penalties immediately after the first publication. It would have taken more than a day's extra work to weed out these several hundred "paid up" tracts, and publication could not be delayed.

As the newspaper's legal charge is 25 cents per tract the total cost to the taxpayers of the two publications, which were run through both The Star and the Washington Telegraph, was $313.75. This was divided, three-fourths to The Star, $235.31, which did all the mechanical work, and one-fourth to the Washington Telegraph, $78.44, which assisted county officials in preparing the publication list from the tax records.

Coughlin promises that henceforth Angelenos are going to act as though they have a city out there, not a hamlet. He says that Los Angeles is going to be like Chicago and New York and San Francisco, where every club has a right to its supporters and the game comes first.

Coughlin points out that football has been one of the west coast movie, oil, citrus and walnut belt's leading industries, and that two neglected squads—those of U. C. L. A. and Loyola—reached front rank distinction on their own while the natives were calling out bands and staging civic parades for U. S. C. arrays—when they won.

But I fear that Coughlin is wrong when he insists that Los Angeles has discarded the idea that U. S. C. has to win or that its followers will know the reason why and take drastic steps. And that it is going to give U. C. L. A. the same consideration during its reign, and treat Loyola likewise.

U. S. C. only has to stage a comeback or U. C. L. A. or Loyola launch and sustain a high-scoring streak, such as that enjoyed by the Trojans from 1928 to 1933, to bring about a fresh beating of the Los Angeles tom-toms.

U. C. L. A. only has to remain in high gear to win over the professional alumni that has been following the men of Howard Jones.

New York Went Joe College When Columbia Came Through

Football is like that—always has been since it became widespread, and Los Angeles is like any other center, be it situated in Maine, Kansas, or New Mexico.

Don't believe that San Franciscans relished the shellackings U. S. C. used to deal California and Stanford.

The rooters of Chicago and New York are divided, but each group is intensely partisan. Manhattan acted like Tuscaloosa, with the mayor out and all, when the courageous little corps of Columbia athletes returned from their victory over Stanford in the Pasadena Rose Bowl, Jan. 1, 1934.

I spent the week-end at South Bend, where was witnessed the wildest demonstration since the old days when Notre Dame caught and passed Pittsburgh after three lean years. In retreat, the Panther party gave an excellent imitation of a funeral.

I doubt that at its peak the whooping it up for U. S. C. ever reached the maximum hysteria stirred by the late Huey Long in the interest of Louisiana State.

I know New York University old grads who haven't seen the Violet perform since Chick Mehan, who believed in building teams as well as men, was given the gate for being too ambitious.

Ohio Taxpayers Aren't Being Gyped at Columbus

It wasn't the beautiful Indian summer afternoon alone that attracted 62,000 persons to the Yale-Navy engagement at New Haven. Improved football brought them out, and Yale and Navy were not above coaching coaching staffs until the desired results were obtained. Impotent teams brought non-graduate coaches to the tattered walls of fair Harvard and Princeton.

If the good people of Los Angeles want to see football enthusiasm at its highest, they should visit Columbus, where a number of Buckeyes are on the Ohio state payroll, and where the taxpayers aren't being gyped, for a change.

Houston, where they were positive that Rice was invincible, and Dallas, where they still are quite sure that Southern Methodist is pretty hot, also afford excellent examples of critics beside themselves over the gridiron game.

Eggskin rapture, with which there really is nothing wrong inasmuch as it is a healthy outlet, is well illustrated in numerous southern cities each fall. There is an outstanding case of it right in North Carolina, which has three corking combinations in the 30-mile tobacco triangle—North Carolina, Duke, and North Carolina State.

Harry Kipke heard the wolves when Michigan slumped after two fat campaigns. The Monday morning quarterback is aboard Pat Spears at Wisconsin, and Sleepy Jim Crowley at Fordham.

Coaching truly is a precarious occupation, for the cockeyed world loves a winner, particularly in football.

Malco's Newport House Faces Charges on "Bank Night" Program

NEWPORT, Ark.—Howard H. Hastings, deputy prosecuting attorney, said here Wednesday that trial of charges against the Malco Theaters, Inc., that the company's Newport theater violated the states lottery statutes in connection with operation of "bank night" will begin here November 12 before three justices of the peace.

Hastings filed 38 charges against the company, contending that operation of the "bank night" plan each Wednesday night for 26 weeks constituted a separate violation of the law. He said he had been advised that the theater company plans to appeal, first to circuit court and then to the state supreme court if the company is fined in connection with the charges at Newport.

"Bank night" was stopped at Malco's Saenger theater in Hope after official warning months ago.

dates being October 24 and 31.

The list comprised 1,255 tracts—only about 40 per cent of the number several years ago—and perhaps a fifth of these owners paid taxes and penalties immediately after the first publication. It would have taken more than a day's extra work to weed out these several hundred "paid up" tracts, and publication could not be delayed.

As the newspaper's legal charge is 25 cents per tract the total cost to the taxpayers of the two publications, which were run through both The Star and the Washington Telegraph, was $313.75. This was divided, three-fourths to The Star, $235.31, which did all the mechanical work, and one-fourth to the Washington Telegraph, $78.44, which assisted county officials in preparing the publication list from the tax records.

Gene Coughlin, sports editor of the Los Angeles Post-Record, informs us that Los Angeles finally has grown up insofar as football is concerned, with special emphasis on University of Southern California teams.

Coughlin promises that henceforth Angelenos are going to act as though they have a city out there, not a hamlet. He says that Los Angeles is going to be like Chicago and New York and San Francisco, where every club has a right to its supporters and the game comes first.

But I fear that Coughlin is wrong when he insists that Los Angeles has discarded the idea that U. S. C. has to win or that its followers will know the reason why and take drastic steps. And that it is going to give U. C. L. A. the same consideration during its reign, and treat Loyola likewise.

Labor Hopeful in British Election

Plan Socialistic Regime If Conservative Party Is Rejected by People

By HAROLD F. BRAMAN
Associated Press Correspondent

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—The labor party hopes for victory in the general election on November 14 and promises Britain, if it wins, a sweeping new deal that will put the plans of the present government and the proposals of David Lloyd George in the shade, a party spokesman said.

He added that party leaders feel that labor's stock has been booming and that of the government declining.

Things are too uncertain to chance a guess, he pointed out. He said the present government, which has been in office since 1931, is in a difficult position. Lloyd George's re-entry into active politics were two factors which might help to swing the tide toward labor in a far more pronounced fashion than could have been expected a few months ago.

British New Deal Claimed
Labor regards itself as the original new deal party of Britain, claiming to be the only party which has been attacking economic ills immediately after the world war and that the Encampments of nearly 200,000 Ethiopian fighters mark the loosely drawn fighting front in the Ogaden, about 30 miles south of Harar. Their arms stacked and pup tents pitched, regulars attached to Ras Nasibu's army, are shown, in a picture just received in America from H. V. ## THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

—BY RODNEY DUTCHER—

WASHINGTON.—Many administrationists and neutral political observers who until recently were suspecting that Hugh S. Johnson had designs on the presidency in 1940 have now come to the conclusion that the general just can't wait.

Johnson presumably would deny presidential ambitions at this time. But his attack on the New Deal, beginning conspicuously with an article in the Saturday Evening Post, convince some of the highest officials here that someone has persuaded the general that he may have to run for high office to save the nation from disaster.

Secretary Wallace the other day openly cited opinions of friends that the general was a candidate for the Republican vice presidential nomination.

Other cabinet members have expressed to intimates the belief that Johnson regards himself as a possible conservative coalition presidential candidate.

Tunnel in at Roosevelt
Edging ever closer to the Republican and American Liberty League positions, the general directs his attack at the policies, lieutenants, and advisers of Roosevelt, rather than at Roosevelt himself.

Neither Roosevelt nor anyone else gets any comfort from the distinction, for the effect is to brand Roosevelt as the prize bonehead of all time. And many here figure that, since P. D. obviously isn't going to oblige Johnson by discarding the whole New Deal and its personnel, Johnson's next logical step would be to repudiate Roosevelt himself—however reluctantly—and oppose his re-election.

The current surge of belief in Johnson's presidential ambitions is, in some small part, sired by wish. New Dealers feel Johnson is mercurial, unstable, and poorly informed.

But they'd rather pin him down as an actual presidential aspirant, where he could be shot full of holes, than to let him roam at large as a wild man, falling in all directions, who couldn't be held to responsibility for his utterances.

On the other hand, Johnson's iron-clad faith in his own infallibility and superior attainments encourages the belief that in the back of his head is

Mrs. Muench Put Out of Courtroom

Spectators Jeer Her—Girl Advances Claim to Disputed Baby

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(AP)—Climaxing a riotous court session marked by books from spectators and the banishment of a principal, unwed Anna Ware, a servant girl, Wednesday identified as her own the baby whose motherhood is claimed by Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench.

Spectators who had jeered Mrs. Muench as she brought the infant into court Wednesday morning, shouted "Hurray for Anna Ware" as the girl completed her identification.

Mrs. Muench, ejected from the court after she screamed, "You brute—Nero!" at Judge William D. Decker, sat in an anteroom and wept loudly.

The two women Wednesday entered the third week of their legal battle over the infant. Judge Becker removed it from the custody of Mrs. Muench when he ordered it held as evidence. It will be cared for at a St. Louis hospital until the case is concluded.

It was the order, read by Judge Becker a few minutes after Mrs. Muench had brought the baby into court for the first time, that brought the denunciation.

"Jumping to her feet she shouted, 'Oh, don't you do it—don't do it. Oh, how can you, you mean old brute.'"

"Remove that woman from the courtroom," shouted Judge Becker above the tumult. As court attaches surrounded Mrs. Muench she turned to Judge Becker again.

"Nero Nero!—to take my baby from me," she screamed. Placed in an anteroom Mrs. Muench continued to sob audibly.

McNaught Wins Over Friend in Two Falls Out of Three

Lefty Williams took two straight falls from Chris Zaharis to win the feature event at the American Legion wrestling stadium Wednesday night.

The first fall required 18 minutes, ending with body slams to the mat. The two grapplers roughed it up a bit in the second round, which lasted six minutes.

In the semi-final event Donald McNaught won with two out of three falls. McNaught took the first one in six minutes. Don Friend, the opponent, pinned McNaught in seven minutes to make the second fall. The third went to McNaught five minutes later.

Newton Secret, Hope Star newsboy, and Fred Briant, drew in the 10-minute preliminary. Both are youngsters and Wednesday was their first public appearance in an amateur wrestling match.

Jury Rejects Plea for $5,000 Against Georgia Ex-Sheriff

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—L. King Higginbotham, former sheriff of Glenn county, Georgia, did not steal the affections of Mrs. Charles Holland from her husband, a young automobile mechanic, a circuit court jury decided Wednesday after deliberating an hour and 15 minutes.

The verdict was signed by nine of the 12 jurors.

Holland had asked $5,000 from the reputedly wealthy Georgian. The case has occupied the court for two days. Richard M. Ryan, special judge, received the verdict and then disqualified himself in a murder case that followed the Higginbotham-Holland litigation.
